

Sixty-Five Today

Verse 1

She turned sixty-five today
But when you look into her eyes they say
She still feels just like a girl
Every day's a precious gift
With her smile she gives a lift
To those blessed to live in her world

Chorus

Momma turned sixty-five today
She still makes plenty time to pray
I know my life is richer
'Cause God let me walk with her
Momma turned sixty-five today

Verse 2

So I salute the woman of my birth
The life she gave — how can I measure its worth?
Her sacrifice for me was so complete
Every day's a precious gift
With her smile she gives a lift
To those blessed to sit at her feet

Chorus

Momma turned sixty-five today
She still makes plenty time to pray
I know my life is richer
'Cause God let me walk with her
Momma turned sixty-five today

Chorus

Momma turned sixty-five today
She still makes plenty time to pray
I know my life is richer
'Cause God let me walk with her
Momma turned sixty-five today
Oh, Momma turned sixty-five today
