

A Perfect Love

Love, a perfect love
Is what we all want to find together
Blending of two hearts
That will share a love forever

Sitting in a porch swing
Talking till the morning
Helping one another
To search and discover
Love is what you make it
It's empty if you fake it
So savor every moment
And your heart won't be broken

Love, a perfect love
Is what we all want to find together
Blending of two hearts
That will share a love forever

Waiting for the children
To get home in the evening
The car broke down, supper's late
Those new shoes will have to wait
Young love seems forgotten
Life for you has gotten
Faster with every moment
And it seems your heart has broken

Love, a perfect love
Is what we all want to find together
Blending of two hearts
That will share a love forever

Sitting by her bedside
Trying your best to hide
The truth of all your fears
As seen in all your tears
Holding on to her hand
As she drifts toward another land
You remember every moment
And you know your heart has broken

Love, a perfect love
Is what you found in life together
Blending of two hearts
That have a shared a love forever

Love is what you make it
It's empty if you fake it
So savor every moment
And your heart won't be broken
No your heart won't be broken
